What: A Public Conversation - Maintaining High Quality City Infrastructure and Services in an Era of Increasing Costs and Relatively Flat Revenue

Location: City Hall
Date: Tuesday, September 2, 2014
Time: 6:00 p.m.

The City of Cameron confronts a fiscal reality of increasing costs of operation in the face of a relatively flat revenue base.

This public conversation, facilitated by Councilman Bill Rose-Heim, is an opportunity for those who live and/or work in the City of Cameron to discuss options to deliver high quality municipal services and enhanced livability in the face of this stagnant financial situation.

Our intent is to gather the wisdom of those we serve in a fast-paced series of small group conversations around five questions:

- WHY? Why maintain and improve quality of life in Cameron?
- WHO? Who else needs to be included in this community effort?
- WHAT? What does a future City of Cameron that works for all its citizens, businesses, institutions and serving organizations look like?
- HOW? How might we improve the quality and effectiveness of citizen participation in shaping the next ballot proposal?
- WHEN? When are we willing to start a renewed effort to stimulate economic development and improve quality of life in Cameron . . . together?

Working together in a cooperative atmosphere we can continue to improve our City, bring employers to the community and enhance the livability for everyone.

Sincerely

Dennis M. Clark, Mayor
