Automated Meter Infrastructure (AMI) Discussion. David Lee reported doing extensive research on a proposal for use of an automated meter reading system. Mr. Lee did a comparison of potential savings submitted by Honeywell Corporation that could benefit the Electric Department and found the following: salaries, $35,023; vehicle expenses, zero savings; remote reconnect/disconnect, zero savings; revenue theft, $7,808; increased revenue, $117,000; write offs, $6,729; power restoration, $208; customer service, zero savings; capital avoidance, $1,000; and, trouble shooting, $1,500. The Water Department findings were: meter reading expenses, $21,605; vehicle expense; zero savings; meter repair, $3,792; increased revenue, $62,725; meter re-reading cost, zero savings, customer service, zero savings; and, capital avoidance, $3,000. Honeywell projected an overall savings of $372,733 while Mr. Lee's projection is $260,390. Mr. Lee recommended the City develop a Request for Proposal for an automated meter reading system which must include a guaranteed savings contract. The company selected must offer a guarantee on revenue generation and real savings with testing done on electric and water meters to offer proof of savings that will cover costs of payment and services to pay out over 10 to 15 years. Mr. Lee contacted other cities using AMR systems during his comparison study and found the cities realized more cost savings than expected and were pleased with the system. Concerns over the cost were expressed noting a proposed electrical substation that could cost $1,000,000 and also over using reserve money for the project. Mr. Lee said the project should proceed only if a guaranteed savings is included. Councilmember Jack moved to seek Request for Proposals for an AMI system. Councilmember Fry seconded the motion which passed with a voice vote of three (3) "Aye" and Councilmember Eddins voting "Nay". Absent: Councilmember Breckenridge.

Water Supply Needs Discussion. City Manager Gaugh updated Council on Great Northwest Wholesale Water Commission of which the City is a member. The Commission is working on a feasibility study to determine costs of a water supply pipeline system. Nothing has been built at this time, but a system including Cameron, Maysville and Stewartville has been discussed. Grants could be sought for funding the project. A pipeline is probably the best solution for future water needs. City Manager Gaugh recommended proceeding to find out the cost of the pipeline either from St. Joseph or Kansas City with a take or pay contract. Once the cost has been determined, the City could make a decision on the project. If the project is cost prohibitive, the City could then look at other alternatives. The current drought brings to the forefront the need to be proactive with a water supply system. The City has 212 days of water supply. Winter time conservation implementation would begin when the supply decreases to 150 days. Council instructed City Manager Gaugh to prepare a Resolution to pursue an additional water supply for the City.
