CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

1. Great Northwest Wholesale Water Commission. A preliminary estimate of the cost of purchasing additional water from the GNWWC was included in packets. It is a rough estimate and subject to change.
2. Council Committees. Councilmember Rose-Heim proposed a committee for volunteer efforts in the community. The Volunteer Committee would serve like any other Council Committee with the same protocol followed.
3. Construction Projects. The Notice to Proceed has been issued for the Walnut St. storm water project.
4. Follow-Up on Tad Pruitt's Request. At the last Council meeting Tad Pruitt, Alliance Water Resources had a question about a manhole problem near lift station two (2). The City has an easement at the lift station, but the landowner allows rock dumping on his property, which had covered our easement in many places. Since we have to - keep the easement open to make sewer line repairs, we hired a dozer to clear the line. During clearing, the dozer hit the manhole lid, moving it from the manhole. Water/Sewer Superintendent John Carroll repaired the manhole the next day, and no issues resulted. The manhole would take in some rain water, so it was fixed as soon as Staff was notified.

5. Automated Metering Proposals. Staff will complete the review of the RFP's and make a presentation to Council.
 6. Reservoir Levels. The reservoirs are in good shape, except for Grindstone, our largest reservoir. As of last Tuesday, April 30th, it is about 2'8" low, coming up a little from the last rain event.
